Even in this case, custodial interrogation was insisted upon by the Gujarat police crime branch. Though in between Setalvad was allowed to travel abroad, an order of 29.06.2015 has imposed a ban on her travel. She has appealed the matter (asking for a modification of the conditions of the order) and also in a separate petition prayed for a quashing of the malafide FIR
CR No I CR No.45/2014 Bhavnagar Police Station	22.08.2014 FIR on same subject as above	Gujarat High Court has stayed the proceedings
Yasmeen Shaikh, another witness in the Best Bakery case, had, instigated by the former employee of the CJP and aided by senior lawyers affiliated with the current dispensation in Gujarat (and now in Delhi) had tried to disrupt the hearing of the appeal while it was being heard in the Bombay High Court in 2012.	She had filed an affidavit making false averments on affidavit that are the same as now made in her recent complaint. We had decisively intervened countering her on every point. The Bombay High Court in its final Order on the appeal dated 4.07.2012 disregarded Yasmeen Shaikh's application and exonerated us.	Media reports stated (June-July 2015) that following her (along with the former employee of CJP writing to the Gujarat's Director General of Police, despite this decisive finding by the Bombay High Court, instead of seeing through Yasmeen Shaikh's ploy for –the DGP Gujarat has passed it on to the Crime Branch that has obviously a lot of time on its hands with a single point agenda-us!
